Dear Collector

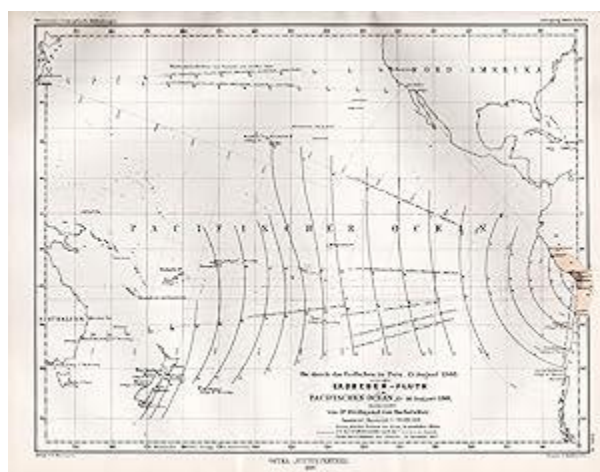

This month's list is divided almost equally into two sections: Books about Books, and Science and Medicine. The first part includes titles that will be of immense usefulness in establishing a niche collection, along with books to assist in preserving and storing one's paper treasures.

The second section includes a variety of items on various branches of science and medicine, ranging from seismology to psychiatry. You will find the first-ever scientific description of a tsunami, early patents taken out by South Africans, and uncommon works on radiation and its effects on human physiology. These publications have been traced from sources far and wide, including a PBFA dealer in Northampton, England, and a noted German Travel dealership. Others have come into our hands serendipitously, which is always a thrill.

As always, we hope we have found something to tempt you.

Best wishes

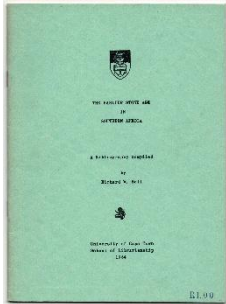

Lindsay and Wendy

BOOKS ABOUT BOOKS

1. Ball, Richard W. (compiler): The Earlier Stone Age in Southern Africa. A Bibliography (Cape Town: University of Cape Town School of Librarianship, 1964) Presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Higher Certificate in Librarianship, September 1963. 225 x 164 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (iv) + v + (i) + 33. Occasional fox spot. Very good condition.

Uncommon. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R275 / £12,50 14086.

2. Baynes-Cope, A. D.: Caring for Books and Documents (London: British Museum Publications, 1982)

4to; laminated pictorial boards; pp. 30 + (ii); photographs and line drawings. Boards a touch rubbed, with small impression to joint of upper board. Very good condition.

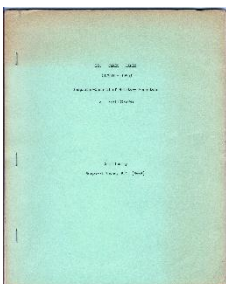

"Most people own some books, and many possess documents, but few are aware of the best conditions in which to store them. Old books are very fragile and even new books can quickly deteriorate in the wrong environment. This book outlines the ideal conditions under which books and documents should be kept, explains the principle causes of damage and offers straightforward, practical advice on how to avoid them. Those who wish to preserve their own books and documents, or who have charge of a small library or archive will find this an invaluable handbook." R143 / £6,50 14071.

3. Besterman, Theodore (author), and J. D. Pearson (revision and update): A World Bibliography of African Bibliographies (Totowa, NJ: Rowman and Littlefield, 1975) Squarish 8vo; original dark blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine; no dustwrapper; no pagination, but pages divided into either two or three numbered columns: 21-241. Very good condition.

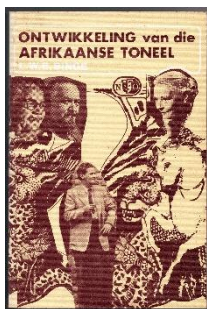

"Includes volumes cited in the 4th ed. of the author's A world bibliography of bibliographies, first published 1965-1966, plus additional volumes published down to 1973." R275 / £12,50 14108.

4. Bevan, Margaret (compiler): Dr. James Barry (1795? - 1865), Inspector-General of Military Hospitals. A Bibliography (Johannesburg: Johannesburg Public Library, 1966) This bibliography was originally compiled in part fulfilment of the requirements for the Diploma of Librarianship, University of the Witwatersrand. 254 x 204 mm; side-stitched printed wrappers; pp. (ii) + v + 27; printed rectos. Wrappers partially sunned and slightly edgeworn. Good to very good condition.

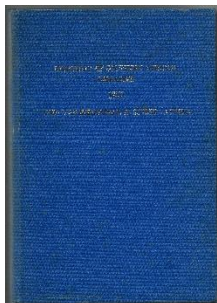

Uncommon. "The writings relating to Dr. Barry fall into two distinct categories, namely those whose primary concern is with the mystery about Dr. Barry's background and sex, and those in which the emphasis is on the medical work done by Dr. Barry at the Cape." R385 / £17,50 14084.

5. Binge, L W. B.: Ontwikkeling van die Afrikaanse Toneel (1832 tot 1950) (Pretoria: J. L. van Schaik, 1978) 227 x 152 mm; pictorial wrappers; pp. XXI + (i) + 274, incl. index; light browning; some foxing to top edge. Very good condition. Afrikaans text.

An in-depth study of the history and development Afrikaans playwriting and theatre.
R330 / £15,00 14096.

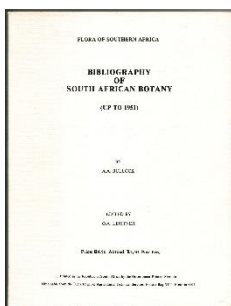

6. Boshoff, M. M. (compiler and editor): Directory of Southern African Libraries 1975 / Gids van biblioteke in Suider-Afrika 1975 (Pretoria: The State Library, 1975) Contributions to Library Science No. 20 / Biblioteekkundige bydraes Nr. 20. 4to; original blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine and upper cover; pp. ix + (i) + 301. Some foxing to boards, edges and endpapers, occasional fox spot elsewhere. Good to very good condition.

"This directory, the third edition, compiled and edited by Miss M. M. Boshoff, revises the Directory of South African Libraries, 1965 and the Handbook of Southern African Libraries, 1970. This edition lists and describes 956 libraries." R440 / £20,00 14077.

7. Bullock, A. A. (compiler), and O. A. Leistner (editor): Flora of Southern Africa. Bibliography of South African Botany (Up to 1951) (Pretoria: Department of South Africa Department of Agricultural Technical Services, 1978) 239 x 180 mm; printed wrappers; pp. (ii) + iii + (i) + 194. Fine condition.

"The publication of this work which was compiled by A.A. Bullock when he was a member of the staff of the Herbarium of the Royal Botanic Gardens of Kew in London, is to be welcomed. Bullock's bibliography will join the series of standard works on South African botany which have become 'tools of our trade'. Botanists owe much to the compiler, who invested many years of work in the preparation and to Dr O.A. Leistner, without whose efforts this manuscript would not have seen the light of day." R220 / £10,00 14094.

8. Connolly, Joseph: Children's Modern First Editions: Their Value to Collectors (London: Macdonald Orbis, 1988) 8vo; original black boards, lettered in gilt on spine; laminated pictorial dustwrapper; pp. 336, incl. index; plates. Dustwrapper a little rubbed, and very slightly edgeworn; some foxing. Very good condition.

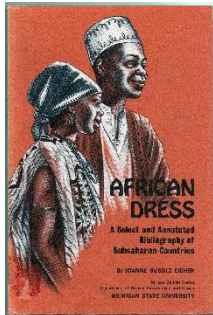

"Following on from his Modern First Editions: Their Value to Collectors (now in its third edition), Joseph Connolly turns his attention to first editions of twentieth-century children's books; there has never before been a book on the subject, and by virtue of its pioneering nature it opens up all sorts of avenues not only for established collectors of children's books, but also for mainstream modern editions collectors and interested beginners as well." R110 / £5,00 14068.

9. du Toit, S W R: C F L Leipoldt Bibliografie (Cape Town: Skool vir Biblioteekwese, Universiteit van Kaapstad, 1947) 328 x 204 mm; side-stitched card wrappers; pp. (i) + vii + 31; printed rectos. Wrappers edgeworn, foxed and a bit soiled; light damp-stain to top edge of prelims. Fair to good. Afrikaans text.

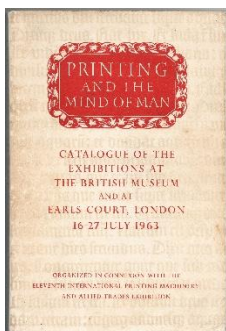

"Die bibliografieë wat in hierdie reeks uitgegee word, is die werk van studente wat vir die Diploma in Biblioteekwese van die Universiteit van Kaapstad studeer. Teneinde vir die Diploma te kwalifiseer, word dit van elke student verwag om 'n bibliografie oor 'n spesiale onderwerp op te stel. ... Nie een van die bibliografieë maak aanspraak op volledigheid nie. Nietemin sal dit gevind word dat hulle die enigste bibliografieë oor baie van die onderwerpe is. Om dié rede het die Skool besluit om hierdie bibliografieë aan 'n groter publiek bekend te stel." R330 / £15,00 14110.

10. Eicher, Joanne Bubolz: African Dress: A Select and Annotated Bibliography of Subsaharan Countries (East Lansing, MI: African Studies Center, Michigan State University, 1973) 227 x 151 mm; pictorial wrappers; pp. xi + (i) + 134; map. Light wear to partially sunned wrappers; label residue to tail of spine; library stamps and codes, including deaccession stamp, to copyright page. Good to very good condition.

A country-by-country bibliography of works on African traditional dress. "Why study African dress? This is an important question in light of the dearth of information on African dress. The study of dress as a factor of material culture in any area of the world can provide insights useful in interpreting other aspects of behavior. For example, in almost all societies, clothing serves as a symbol of wealth, prestige, occupation, and sex. In a continent like Africa which is experiencing rapid change, clothing documents the impact of culture contact and reveals attitudes toward change." R275 / £12,50 14095.

11. Francis, Frank, with Stanley Morison, John Carter and others (supervisory committee): Printing and the Mind of Man. Catalogue of the Exhibitions at the British Museum and at Earls Court, London, 16-27 July 1963 (London: Messrs R. W. Bridges & Sons, 1963) Title from upper cover. 234 x 158 mm; printed wrappers; pp. 126 + (ii) + 32 + 62 + (ii) + 16; 49 plates, one of which in colour. Wrappers a little rubbed and curled, with discreet archival tape reinforcing to spine; occasional fox spot. Good condition.

Comprehensive descriptive and illustrated catalogue for the landmark exhibition on the history of printing. "The invention of printing with movable type was crucial to the whole development of Western civilization. The purpose of the historical exhibitions annexed to IPEX 1963 is to illustrate the internal development of that invention, in the technical progress of printing as a craft; the external development, in the finest achievements of printing as an art; and, beyond the limits of the art and craft of printing, to demonstrate the impact of printing on the mind of man and the effect it has had on the history of the last five hundred years. This threefold aim has been approached in three complementary displays, the first and last at Earls Court and the second in the King's Library of the British Museum." R440 / £20,00 14085.

12. Holm, S.E.: Bibliography of South African Pre- and Proto-Historic Archaeology (Pretoria: J.L. van Schaik, 1966) National Council for Social Research. Department of Education, Arts and Science. Publication Series No. 16. 8vo; original black boards with gilt titles; pp. 144. Upper cover a little scuffed. Very good condition.

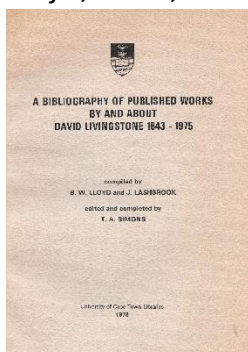

The aim of the compilation is to provide professional and amateur archaeologists alike with a key to the past literature in the field of archaeology and to enable workers to refer quickly and readily to the voluminous writings on the subject of Early Man." Lists 1151 items, with commentary on each. R330 / £15,00 14093.

13. Johnson, Charles: The Care of Documents and Management of Archives (London: Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1919) Help for Students of History No. 5. 182 x 123 mm; saddle-stitched printed wrappers; pp. 47. Wrappers a little worn; pages browned; some fox spots. Good condition.

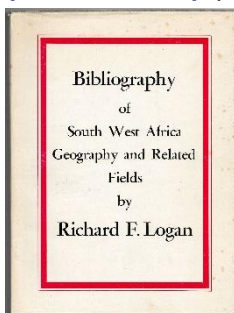

Contents: What are "Archives"?; Principles of Arrangement; Method of Procedure; Housing; Packing; Cleaning and Repairing; Reagents; Production; Means of Reference; Qualifications of the Archivist; Appendix: The Sifting of Documents, Terminology, Bibliography. R187 / £8,50 14111.

14. Lloyd, B. W., and J. Lashbrook (compilers): A Bibliography of Published Works by and about David Livingstone 1843 - 1975 (Cape Town: University of Cape Town Libraries, 1978) Edited and completed by T. A. Simons. 296 x 212 mm; printed wrappers; colour frontis; pp. xiii + (i) + 115. Trace of light browning. Very good condition.

Over 700 entries. 'Livingstone's life and work have produced even more controversy than the Zimbabwe ruins; but his stature, and his influence on African history, is undeniable: many historians considering that his aims (the spread of "Christianity, commerce and civilisation") were the foundation of British imperial policy in central Africa.' R440 / £20,00 14099.

15. Logan, Richard F.: Bibliography of South West Africa, Geography and related fields. 2000 Titles (closed 1966) (Windhoek: Committee of the S.W.A. Scientific Society, 1969) Scientific Research in South West Africa (8th Series). 236 x 175 mm; grey card wrappers, with printed dustwrapper; pp. 152. Penned accession code to dustwrapper spine panel; a little foxing to dustwrapper. Very good condition.

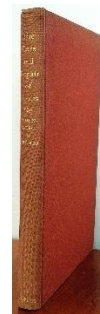

"This bibliography is designed as a guide to sources useful in research on the geography of South-West Africa. The materials included are very wide in scope - far wider, perhaps, than is normally the case with a bibliography on a scientific subject. Many non-scientific items have been included since very often the researchist finds important pieces of information or new and interesting attitudes in the writings of people who are not scientifically trained, but who happen to have viewed a certain area or phenomenon, or who lived at a certain time." R220 / £10,00 14092.

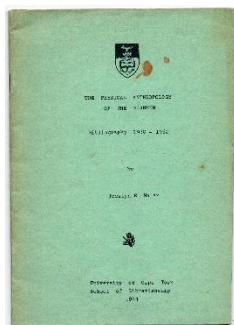

16. Lydenberg, Harry Miller, and John Archer: The Care and Repair of Books (New York: The R.R. Bowker Company, 1945) Third and Revised Edition. 8vo; original orange cloth, lettered in gilt on spine; no dustwrapper; pp. (vi) + 123, incl. index; two plates. Backstrip a bit sunned; light foxing to endpapers and edges. Very good condition.

"Books are like children in more ways than one; in their response to care and attention in early life, for one thing, and in their response to heredity and environment, for another." R165 / £7,50 14101.

17. Malan, Jocelyn E. (compiler): The Physical Anthropology of the Bushmen. Bibliography

1930 - 1962 (Cape Town: University of Cape Town School of Librarianship, 1962) Presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Higher Certificate in Librarianship, February 1962. 223 x 159 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (vi) + iv + 24. Wrappers slightly marked; occasional fox spot. Good to very good condition.

Uncommon. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R220 / £10,00 14073.

18. Muller, C.F.J., F.A. van Jaarsveld and Theo van Wijk (editors): A Select Bibliography of South African History. A guide for historical research (Pretoria: University of South Africa, 1966) 8vo; original blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine; pp. xii + 215, incl. index. Ownership stamps to endpapers and verso of flyleaf; some foxing to edges. Good to very good condition.

"Before the frontiers of knowledge can be expanded, they must be clearly drawn. This guide for historical research workers, the first comprehensive attempt to show what has been written on the history of South Africa, by whom and in what form, may therefore be valuable in revealing what still remains to be accomplished. It has been planned to cover an extensive field; in many cases it intrudes on other social sciences, and on art, language and literature, but it has been restricted generally to scholarly works which could be of importance to the historian." R165 / £7,50 14107.

19. Muller, C.F.J., F.A. van Jaarsveld and Theo van Wijk (editors): Supplement to a Select Bibliography of South African History. A guide for historical research (Pretoria: University of South Africa, 1974) 8vo; original olive rexine, lettered in gilt on spine and upper cover; pp. x + 166 (including index). Small scuff to fore-edge of upper board; trace of spotting to top edge. Very good condition.

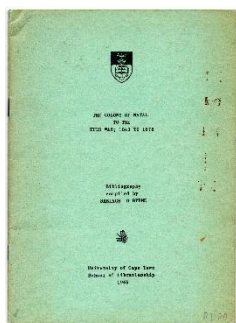

"This supplement ... is intended to add items covering the period to 1965 omitted for various reasons from the earlier compilation and to include recent publications to about the end of May 1973." R440 / £20,00 14106.

20. Musiker, R. (compiler): The Australopithecinae. A Bibliography (Cape Town: University of Cape Town Libraries, 1969) Presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Higher Certificate in Librarianship, 1954. 227 x 166 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (iv) + x + 49. Wrappers lightly tanned. Very good condition.

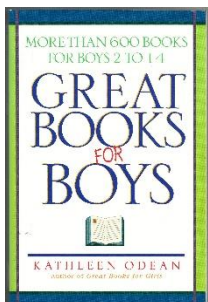

Uncommon. "During the past thirty years, South Africa has given to the world a number of very important palaeontological discoveries, involving the Australopithecinae (ape men fossils). While these discoveries have duly been recorded and discussed in numerous articles, no comprehensive work that lists all these finds in detail has appeared. It is the aim of this bibliography to record as many of these writings as possible and to bring them into some useful order." - From the preface of this early work by a noted South African bibliographer. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R385 / £17,50 14088.

21. O'Byrne, Shelagh (compiler): The Colony of Natal to the Zulu War; 1843 to 1878 (Cape Town: University of Cape Town School of Librarianship, 1965) Presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Higher Certificate in Librarianship, 1959. 225 x 163 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (ii) + v + (i) + 22. Wrappers slightly marked; occasional fox spot. Good to very good condition.

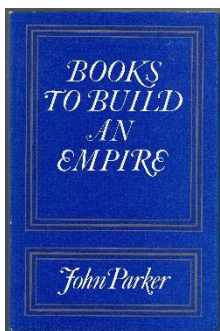

Uncommon. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R275 / £12,50 14076.

22. Odean, Kathleen: Great Books for Boys. More than 600 Books for Boys 2 to 14 (New York: Ballantine Books, 1998) 208 x 140 mm; laminated wrappers; pp. ix + (i) + 384, incl. index. Very good condition.

"Parents, grandparents, teachers and librarians-we all need a tool that guides us to the books that will inspire boys to read and keep them coming back for more. ... More than just a pastime, literature is the key to the unexplored. And the boys who discover reading from the books in Great Books for Boys will embark on an adventure that will fuel their dreams for the rest of their lives." R110 / £5,00 14079.

23. Parker, John: Books to Build an Empire. A Bibliographical History of English Overseas Interests to 1620 (Amsterdam: N. Israel, 1965) 8vo; original blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine; dustwrapper; pp. viii + 290, incl. index; large, folding map at end. Dustwrapper very slightly rubbed; trace of light browning to free endpapers. Very good condition.

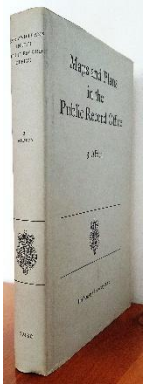

Landmark publication on British territorial expansion. ' "The origin and growth of English interest in those parts of the world that would one day make up the British Empire can be followed in the books that came from English presses between 1481 and 1620. This book is an attempt to record and describe these publications, and to show the part they played as England moved toward her great overseas adventure."

Mr. John Parker, who is curator of the James Ford Bell Collection at the University of Minnesota Libraries, presents here an extensive bibliographical essay on the publications which appeared as a part of England's early interest in overseas commerce, travel, exploration and settlement. All the 267 booktitles and editions commented on in the narrative are also described bibliographically for the use of librarians, collectors and booksellers." R330 / £15,00 14097.

24. Penfold, P A (editor): Maps and Plans in the Public Record Office. 3. Africa (London: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1982) 8vo; pale blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine; dustwrapper; pp. xii + (ii) + 426, incl. index. Occasional fox spot; light discoloration to edges. Very good condition. "This, the third published catalogue of maps and plans in the Public Record Office, describes many of the maps of the African continent known to be in the custody of that Department. Also included is material relating to Mauritius, Madagascar and other islands in the Atlantic and Indian Oceans. Although many of these documents were produced by or for the British Government, the catalogue also describes maps published by foreign official agencies, as well as original manuscript surveys made on the spot by explorers, engineers, boundary commissioners and others." R330 / £15,00 14102.

25. Plumbe, Wilfred J.: The Preservation of Books in Tropical & Subtropical Countries (London & Kuala Lumpur: Oxford University Press, 1964) 8vo; original lime green boards, lettered in white on spine; dustwrapper; pp. ix + (i) + 72; plates. Dustwrapper edgeworn, rubbed and sunned; some spotting to top edge; light browning to free endpapers. Very good condition, in a modest dustwrapper.

"Modern civilization relies to a large extent on the dissemination of information through books. In tropical or sub-tropical countries special precautions must be taken if books are to be saved from damage by insects, mildew and other enemies and this problem is being encountered by an increasing number of book-users in developing countries throughout the world. In this informative work, based on long experience as a librarian in Malaya and in Africa, the author shows what measures can be taken to preserve important books from damage or destruction." R275 / £12,50 14098.

26. Poyurs, A.: Novel Voices (London: P. R. Macmillan, 1958) 8vo; original blue boards, lettered in gilt on spine; pictorial dustwrapper; pp. (vi) + 39. Dustwrapper somewhat tanned and edgeworn; spine extremities sunned; some foxing to endpapers. Good condition.

A series of essays divided into two sections, the first being on American authors and literature, and the second on South African literature. The American section has essays on such different writers as William Faulkner and Mickey Spillane, while the South African section includes an essay on Nadine Gordimer - surely one of the earliest spotlights on her promise. "It is inevitable that America and South Africa, being comparatively young and pioneering countries, lacking the culture and tradition of Europe, should have much in common. ... The following pages are intended as a guide for the general reader to the salient features of both literatures, as well as to the works of certain American authors." R440 / £20,00 14080.

27. Richards, Margaret Patricia (compiler): Mountaineering in Southern Africa. A selective bibliography (Johannesburg: University of the Witwatersrand Department of Bibliography, Librarianship and Typography, 1966) Compiled in part fulfilment of the Diploma in Librarianship, University of the Witwatersrand. 295 x 207 mm; cloth-backed printed card wrappers; pp. (i) + v + 24; printed rectos. Bumps to fore-corners of partially sunned wrappers. Good to very good condition.

Uncommon. "This bibliography is entitled 'Mountaineering in Southern Africa.' The term mountaineering is used here in its broadest sense and includes all branches of mountain craft such as rock climbing, rambling and exploration of new areas as well as the reminiscences and points of view of mountaineers, and aspects of safety, technique and equipment. The geographical area covered is limited to South West Africa, Basutoland and the Republic of South Africa." R330 / £15,00 14100.

28. Rossouw, Fransie (compiler): South African Printers and Publishers 1795 - 1925. From A South African Bibliography to the Year 1925 (Cape Town: South African Library, 1988) South African Library

General Series 10. Reprint with corrections. 4to; original blue boards, lettered in white on spine and upper cover; pp. xi + (i) + 253. Trace of spotting to top edge, else fine.

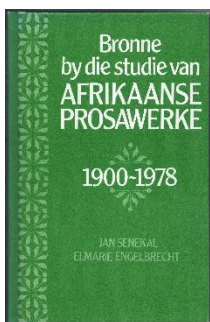

"The alphabetical section lists the imprints and publications of firms and individuals who worked in South Africa during the first 130 years of the country's printing history. Supplementing this section are geographical and chronological indexes, so that the user can see immediately how many printers and publishers there were in any given town or in any given year during this period. Biographical and other information is supplied on the various individuals and firms concerned. This was assembled from a wide variety of sources and enhances the value of the list as an aid to research in the history of South African printing and publishing." R275 / £12,50 14105.

29. Sanderson, Michael (Librarian): National Maritime Museum Catalogue of the Library. Volume One: Voyages & Travel (London: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1968)

4to; original dark blue buckram, lettered in gilt on spine, with gilt flying fish device to upper cover; dustwrapper; pp. xii + 403; plates; folding maps. Dustwrapper a little rubbed; light tape marks to endpapers; trace of foxing to top edge. Very good condition.

"In this volume, comprising works on Voyages and Travel, the progress of maritime exploration from the Vikings to the present day has been surveyed. A special feature of the work is the inclusion of chronological tables of voyages at the beginning of each geographical section." R275 / £12,50 14104.

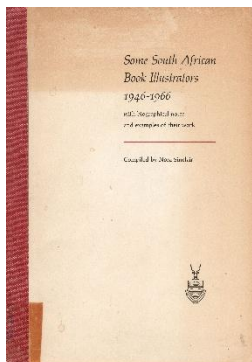

30. Senekal, Jan, and Elmarie Engelbrecht: Bronne by die studie van Afrikaanse prosawerke (Johannesburg: Perskor, 1984) 8vo; original papered boards; pp. 220. Very slightly sunned on spine; pages uniformly browned; occasional fox spot. Very good condition.

Afrikaans text. "Dié Bronne by die studie van Afrikaanse prosawerke is in die eerste plek bedoel vir onderwysers, skoliere en studente wat op 'n speurtog moet gaan en dikwels méér tyd daaraan moet bestee as aan die studie self. Daar word uitgegaan van die standpunt dat sekondêre bronne by tekstuele studie deel word van die leser se konteks, wat verdere konnotasies ten gevolg kan hê. Die prosaskrywers se name verskyn in alfabetiese volgorde, en onder hulle name die prosawerke. As slegs die titel bekend is, kan die titelregister geraadpleeg word." R275 / £12,50 14078.

31. Sinclair, Nora (compiler): Some South African Book Illustrators 1946-1966, with biographical notes and examples of their work (Johannesburg: University of the Witwatersrand Department of Bibliography, Librarianship and Typography, 1968) 293 x 205 mm; cloth-backed printed card wrappers; pp. (vi) + iii + (i) + 53; some illustrations. Cover a little worn and partially sunned, with code and tape stain to tail of spine; library codes to prelims. Good condition.

Bibliography, Librarianship and Typography, 1968) 293 x 205 mm; cloth-backed printed card wrappers; pp. (vi) + iii + (i) + 53; some illustrations. Cover a little worn and partially sunned, with code and tape stain to tail of spine; library codes to prelims. Good condition.

Uncommon. "This bibliography was started to help the typography students in the Department of Bibliography, Librarianship and Typography at the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg. The intention was to provide students with some sort of guide to the illustrators at present working in the various parts of the Republic, with an idea of who they are, if and where they were trained, or if they were self taught, and to list examples of their work. To make this of wider interest it was decided to try to include as many illustrators as possible whose work had been published in South Africa from 1946 to 1966." R440 / £20,00 14090.

32. Smit, Bernard: The Control of Household Insects in South Africa (Pretoria: Union of South Africa Department of Agriculture and Forestry, [1942]) 242 x 153 mm; side-stitched card wrappers; pp. 42; line drawings; colour plate. Staples rusted; some fox spots; trace of damp ripple to top fore-corner. Good.

"A Bulletin for the home dealing with Houseflies, Mosquitoes, Fleas, Cockroaches, Clothes Moths, Bedbugs, etc." The author was Senior Entomologist in the Division of Entomology. R220 / £10,00 14075.

33. Tempny, H. M. (compiler): Astley John Hilary Goodwin (1900 - 1959). A Bibliography (Cape Town: University of Cape Town School of Librarianship, 1963) Presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the Higher Certificate in Librarianship, February 1960. 225 x 155 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (iv) + vii + (i) + 56. Very good condition.

Uncommon. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R385 / £17,50

34. University of Cape Town School of Librarianship: Bibliographical Series Consolidated List 1941 - 1966 (Cape Town: University of Cape Town Libraries, 1966) 225 x 165 mm; saddle-stitched printed card wrappers; pp. (iv) + 38. Wrappers lightly tanned. Very good condition.

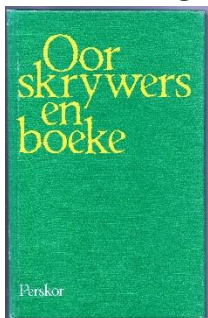

"For many years, one of the requirements for the Diploma in Librarianship of the University of Cape Town has been the compilation of a bibliography on a special subject. The present list details in one alphabetical author sequence all the bibliographies produced for the Diploma in Librarianship between 1941 and June 1966. It is the first consolidated list of these bibliographies." R187 / £8,50 14091.

35. [University of Natal]: Killie Campbell Africana Library / William Campbell Museum / Mashu Museum (Durban: University of Natal, no date) 241 x 185 mm; saddle-stitched paper wrappers; pp. 16 (cover included in pagination); some illustrations. Bookplate inside upper cover; leaves somewhat browned; central horizontal crease; a few tears to fore-edge; occasional fox spot. Good.

38. Various authors: Books in Peril. Proceedings of the Symposium on the Preservation of Library and Archival Materials in Southern Africa held at the South African Library, Cape Town, 19-21 November 1986 (Cape Town: South African Library, 1987) 207 x 148 mm; printed wrappers; pp. 196. Some foxing to wrappers and edges, occasional fox spot elsewhere. Good to very good condition.

"The papers delivered and discussed during the Symposium dealt with all aspects of preservation, covering subjects such as the state of collections locally and overseas, the various steps that can be taken to halt or slow down the process of deterioration, the binding and restoration of documents and the education and training of preservation officers and restorers. We trust that the publication of these proceedings will lead to a better understanding of the problems that South African libraries and archives encounter in safeguarding their collections for posterity, and that it will also stimulate co-operative and concerted efforts to overcome these problems." Uncommon. "None of the bibliographies claims to be exhaustive in treatment, nevertheless it will be found that they are the only bibliographies available on many of the subjects. For this reason the School has decided to make these bibliographies accessible to a wider public." R275 / £12,50 14072.

SCIENCE AND MEDICINE

40. Addison, Graeme, and others: Edge Series. Innovation Nation 1900-2004 (Johannesburg: Engineering Association / Department of Science & Technology, 2005) Title taken from slipcase. The individual volumes of the three-volume set are entitled: 1) The Hidden Edge: Quest for Progress; 2) The Leading Edge: Dividends of Democracy; 3) The Competitive Edge: Making Innovation Happen. Three 4to volumes, housed in a matching slipcase. Two of the books are hardcovers, with laminated pictorial boards, and corresponding dustwrappers; the third is of limp, laminated pictorial boards. Pagination: 1) pp. 244, incl. index; 2) pp. 256, incl. index; 3) pp. 104, incl. index. All three volumes lavishly illustrated. Short tear to head of spine panel in second volume's dustwrapper, else fine.

"The Edge books tell the inspiring story of South Africa's scientific, technological and engineering achievements from the beginning of the last century to date. An award-winning journalist, leading photographers and a renowned designer have teamed up with two of South Africa's leading technology management experts to reveal the evolution of the country's exciting innovations, at every level from the grassroots to high technology. Drawing on the annual Technology Top 100 awards, and published by the Engineering Association (SAVI) supported by sponsors in government and the private sector, the series comprises two illustrated volumes on past and present achievements, plus a booklet on how innovation occurs in go-ahead organisations." R440 / £20,00 10490.

41. Baggott, Jim: Perfect Symmetry: the accidental discovery of Buckminsterfullerene (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1994) Dustwrapper, pp. xi + 315, diagrams and other illustrations.

'In 1966, it was an amusing idea. In September 1985, it was a ball of paper and sticky tape, the result of six days of intense scientific discussion and one moment of inspiration. Five years later it was finally real: a perfectly symmetrical soccer-ball shaped molecule composed of 60 carbon atoms and called buckminsterfullerene. ... Carbon will never be the same again.' R154 / £7,00 2460.

42. Basson, Nicolene: Passage to Progress. The CSIR's Journey of Change 1945-1995 (Johannesburg: Jonathan Ball, 1996) 8vo; original black boards; laminated pictorial dustwrapper; pp. (xxii) + 204, incl. index; plates, some of which in full colour; monochrome illustrations in text. Tiny scuff to top edge of dustwrapper's upper panel; bottom fore-corners slightly bumped; old pencilled pricing and date, although erased, still evident on front free endpaper. Very good condition.

"Passage to Progress was written to commemorate the CSIR's fiftieth anniversary celebrated in October 1995. The book takes a brief look at the dawn of technology in Africa, its subsequent progress, and the CSIR's role in its development. The main focus is on the past 15 years, with an in-depth look at the transformation processes embarked upon within the CSIR; the learning experience associated with radical change; the effects of this change in policy in terms of the organisation and its people, and the way the CSIR is fulfilling its role in a rapidly changing environment, both locally and internationally. ... Passage to Progress traces the CSIR's journey of change from the 'blue skies' approach to research to the down-to-earth relevance of its present integrated role in the national science and technology strategy, which is to promote economic growth and a better quality of life for all South Africans." R330 / £15,00 8137.

43. Beattie, J. C.: Report of a Magnetic Survey of South Africa (London: Published for the Royal Society and sold by the Cambridge University Press, 1909) 4to; brown cloth-backed boards; lettered in gilt on spine; pp. ix + (i) + 235, incl. index; eight large folding charts, but lacking the general map (chart IX); several maps and tables. Cover rather worn; lower joint fractured; corners turned; hand-stamp of Radcliffe Observatory to flyleaf; some cloth tape reinforcing to folds of charts; light browning to edges of leaves. Fair externally; good condition overall.

Sir John Carruthers Beattie (1866-1946) was a physicist specialising in earth magnetism. "His main field was the south to north magnetic survey of Africa, in which he worked closely with a fellow-Scot, Professor J.T. Morrison of the Victoria College, later the University of Stellenbosch. Their work for the survey in South Africa between 1898 and 1906 was published under Beattie's name as Report of a magnetic survey of South Africa."

48. Buss, W. M. & Vincent Buss: The Lure of the Stone. The Story of Henrietta Stockdale (Cape Town: Howard Timmins, 1976) 8vo; original green boards, lettered in white on spine; pictorial dustwrapper;

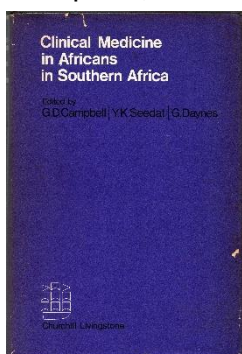

pp. 131, incl. index; plates. Dustwrapper somewhat rubbed and edgeworn, with earlier owner's tape repairs to extremities of spine panel; bottom edges of boards a little shelf-rubbed; occasional foxing.

Good condition.

"In 1873, after answering an appeal by the Bishop of Bloemfontein for teachers and nurses for the Orange Free State, [Henrietta Stockdale] went to the Clewer Hospital and to the Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital in London to study nursing. ... She started her work at Kimberley in 1876 as a district nurse in the mining camps, but by 1877 was assigned as a sister to the Carnarvon Hospital there, where she started the first training school for nurses in South Africa. ... As a result of Stockdale's vision and drive, South Africa became the first country in the world to provide for state registration of both nurses and midwives ... This remarkable woman, who laid the foundation of professional nursing and modern hospital organisation in Southern Africa, was a singularly attractive person, tall, well-built, with a creamy complexion, soft, dark brown hair, blue eyes and a pleasant voice. She was regarded as a saint by some, and as a keen business woman politician by others. She had a fearless approach to the political questions of the day, and never hesitated to enlist the aid of a Royal Princess when she felt that nursing and the care of the sick were threatened." - DSAB II, pp. 716-7. 51. Cobb, Matthew: Generation: The Seventeenth-Century Scientists Who Unraveled the Secrets of Sex, Life, and Growth (New York: Bloomsbury, 2006) 8vo; original black boards, lettered in silver gilt on spine; laminated pictorial dustwrapper; pp. xv + (i) + 333, incl. index; illustrations. Merest trace of wear to dustwrapper's top edge; spot to top edge. Very good condition.

'Generation is the story of the exciting, all but forgotten decade when four men - Jan Swammerdam, the son of a Protestant apothecary; Nils Stensen (also known as Steno), a Danish anatomist who first discovered the human tear duct; Reinier de Graaf, the attractive and brilliant son of a rich and successful Catholic architect; and Antoni Leeuwenhoek, a self-taught draper - dared to challenge thousands of years of orthodox thinking about where life comes from. ... Including previously untranslated documents, Generation interweaves the personal stories of these scientists against the backdrop of the Dutch "Golden Age." It is a riveting account of the audacious men who swept away old certainties and provided the foundation for much of our current understanding of the living world.' R110 / £5,00 10860.

52. Collis, Robert: A Doctor's Nigeria (London: Secker & Warburg, 1960) 8vo; original orange boards, lettered in silver gilt on spine; pictorial dustwrapper; pp. 264; plates; map. Dustwrapper a little rubbed and edgeworn, with earlier owner's tape reinforcing to spine panel extremities; some foxing to endpapers and edges, occasional fox spot elsewhere. Good condition.

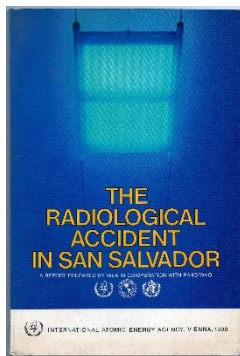

"Three years ago Robert Collis, as well known as a physician as he is as a writer, accepted the post of head of the Paediatric Department at the University College of Ibadan in the Western Region of Nigeria. This book is his account of what he did, saw and heard in the next eighteen months not only at Ibadan but in the course of his travels in this vast country ... Readable, shrewd and informative, this book's publication at any time would be an event. Its appearance in the year when Nigeria attains independence gives it an added importance and ensures it the widest of publics." R275 / £12,50 13668.

54. Croft, J. R., and others: The Radiological Accident in San Salvador. A report prepared by the International Atomic Energy Agency in co-operation with the Pan American Health Organization of the World Health Organization (Vienna: International Atomic Energy Agency, 1990) 240 x 160 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. (xiv) + 94; colour plates; text figures; endpocket holding folding chart with three diagrams. Wrappers slightly tanned, with light bump to tail of spine; earlier owner's name signed on first blank; some foxing. Good to very good condition.

"Technologies that make use of radiation continue to spread around the world: millions of people are employed in radiation related occupations and hundreds of millions of people benefit from these applications. ... The accident at an industrial irradiation facility in San Salvador ... did result in a fatality, as had similar accidents in Italy in 1975 and in Norway in 1982. There are more than 160 industrial irradiation facilities around the world that are as large as or larger than the one in San Salvador, and some of these are in countries that lack adequate infrastructures for radiation protection. An international review was undertaken to document the facts of the accident and to define generic lessons for the benefit of those having safety responsibilities for such facilities." 55. Davis, M.J.F.: A Study of Industrial Health amongst African Workers employed by The South Rubber Manufacturing Co. Ltd. at Howick, Natal (Cape Town: unpublished dissertation, [1961]) Thesis in unpublished form, submitted to the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Cape Town as part of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Medicine. Loosely inserted is an offprint from The South African Medical Journal of the author's article 'The Incidence of Venereal Disease in an Industry: A Survey of 259 Cases'. 4to; original black rexine, lettered in gilt on spine and upper board; pp. iv + 268 (printed rectos); tables, incl. folding; plates, some with mounted colour photographs. Cloth slightly rubbed; upper hinge split, with cloth tape repair; some fox spots. Good condition.

Understandably uncommon: OCLC does not find this title, other than in the University of Cape Town Library. "In the latter half of 1956, the Management of The South African Rubber Manufacturing Company Limited (SARMCOL) initiated discussions about the general state of health of their African workers. Mr. W. Sage, the General Manager of Sarmcol, stated that whilst it was generally accepted that deficiency diseases are the major cause of inefficiency and absenteeism in industry, he was anxious to ascertain to what extent this applied to his own organisation. Mr. de Cuevas, Chairman of the Company, suggested that I should put in a written report and recommendation for improving the medical services at Sarmcol. Mr. R. W. Lunn, C.B.E., the chairman of the Leyland & Birmingham Rubber Company, England, parent Company of Sarmcol, who was present, showed particular interest in the subject and made valuable suggestions for a thorough study. Thereafter, it was decided to launch a specific and detailed investigation into the background, home conditions, nutrition, state of health and family commitments of a sample of three hundred African employees of the Company. The results of this investigation are presented here." R660 / £30,00 13653.

56. De Styrap, Jukes: A Code of Medical Ethics: With General and Special Rules for the Guidance of the Faculty and the Public in the Complex Relations of Professional Life (London: H. K. Lewis, 1895) 8vo; original blue cloth, blocked in blind, with gilt device to upper cover; all edges gilt; pp. 103 + (iii). Cloth somewhat rubbed; backstrip sunned, and frayed at head; binding slack and hinges starting; earlier owner's name pencilled on title page; foxed throughout, quite severely so in places.

"Apart from all specific instructions, there are noticeable in the book a high sense of justice, an element of dignity and self-respect, and a general sentiment of affection for all that is best in medical life and character, which combine to make it excellent reading. There is something stately and old-fashioned in the diction which well suits the subject, and adds to rather than detracts from the impressiveness and authority of the text. It is a book to be treasured for its own sake, and there is no one who will not feel strengthened by reading it, or, who having read it, will not put it in a handy place on his book-shelf for frequent reference, and who will not always turn to it with a sense of refreshment and help. It well deserves the authority which it has earned for itself by its purely intrinsic merits." - British Medical Journal. R220 / £10,00 13678.

57. Dean, Geoffrey: The Turnstone. A Doctor's Story (Liverpool: Liverpool University Press, 2002) 234 x 156 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. xi + (i) + 273, incl. index; plates. Spine a little sunned; trace of spotting to edges. Very good condition.

"The Turnstone is a vivid and wide-ranging account of more than sixty years of travel, medical research and clinical practice. The author, Dr Geoffrey Dean, was born in Wales in 1918 and spent his early years in the north of England. ... The author's research has taken him to Holland, Sweden, Cyprus, Spain, Malta, and China. Besides his research findings, the book has a rich array of anecdotes and adventures, ranging from the threat of imprisonment in South Africa to a period spent as the personal physician to the multi-millionaire Governor of the Fiji Islands.

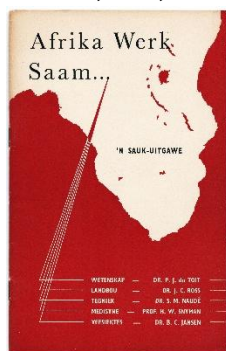

The Turnstone is a fascinating and unusual story which will appeal both to doctors and general readers." R143 / £6,50 8709.

Cloth somewhat stippled; earlier owner's name signed on pastedowns. Very good condition.

Henry Gluckman (1893-1987) became Minister of Health and Housing in the United Party government of Jan Smuts in the few years prior to National Party victory in 1948. In this volume he makes a "contribution to the current literature on the subject ... [that] will be a boon to students in this country who are about to play their part in the treatment and prevention of syphilis and gonorrhoea." R550 / £25,00 11995.

63. Hochstetter, Ferdinand von: Die Erdbebenfluth im Pacifischen Ocean vom 13. bis 16. August 1868

(Gotha: Justus Perthes, 1869) An article in Dr. Augustus Petermann's 'Mittheilungen', issue VI of 1869: the entire issue of the journal is supplied, though Hochstetter's contribution is confined to pp. 222-226, with an accompanying map showing the impact of the tsunami on the entire Pacific between the coast of South America and New Zealand. 278 x 230 mm; printed wrappers; pp. [201-240] + adverts.; 2 maps, in colours - one relating to the tsunami and the other to the German Arctic expedition of 1868. Very good condition.

The magnitude 9.0 earthquake offshore of Peru and Chile in August of 1868 caused a devastating tsunami in the Pacific region, bringing destruction and death as far west as New Zealand. The Austrian geologist Ferdinand von Hochstetter, who had visited the region in 1859-60, described the effect of the event throughout the Pacific, and, as illustrated in the accompanying map, charted the progress of the tsunami over the ocean, calculating the wave speed and ocean depth along the arc of the giant wave's progress. His was the first comprehensive scientific study of a major tsunami. R825 / £37,50 6366.

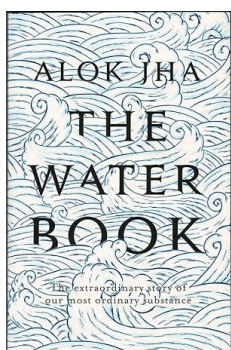

64. Ingram, Alexander, and Botha de Meillon: A Mosquito Survey of Certain Parts of South Africa, With Special Reference to the Carriers of Malaria and Their Control (Johannesburg: The South African Institute for Medical Research, 1927 and 1929) A two-part work, comprising Numbers XXII and XXIII of 'Publications of the South African Institute for Medical Research', issued in October of 1927 and January of 1929. Two volumes, each 258 x 185 mm; printed wrappers; pp. 82 + (xxviii), [83-170] + (xx); several diagrammatic plates. Wrappers a little sunned, with ink stamp of 'Dr. A. Pijper's Laboratory', and chipped at extremities of backstrip in each case; laboratory ink stamps elsewhere; occasional fox spot. Good.

An important work on the occurrence of malarial mosquitoes in South Africa. "The South African Institute for Medical Research in Johannesburg commenced its existence in 1912. Its 'Publications' dating from 1913 include a considerable amount of work on veterinary and medical entomology. ... B. de Meillon's work on the Anopheline mosquitoes and his series of studies on insects of medical importance are well known." - A. C. 65. Jha, Alok: The Water Book (London: Headline, 2015) 232 x 151 mm; pictorial wrappers; pp. (viii) + 376, incl. index. Fine condition.

"It pours from our taps and falls from the sky. We drink it, wash with it and couldn't live without it. Yet, on closer examination, water is a very strange substance; look closer still and it reveals itself as a key to a scientific story on the biggest of canvases. In The Water Book Alok Jha takes us on a dual journey. First, a physical one as we join him on an expedition to Antarctica, where the power and importance of water is made manifest in the great ice fields, icebergs and world-shaping weather systems of the Southern Ocean. And secondly, on a parallel scientific voyage that will take us from the origins of water in the Big Bang, through the beginnings of life on Earth, the shaping of our civilisations and out into space again as water becomes the key marker in our search for life beyond the solar system and beyond. After reading The Water Book you will never look at a glass of water in quite the same way again." R110 / £5,00 10872.

66. Kingwill, D G: The CSIR. The First 40 Years (Pretoria: CSIR, 1990) Presentation bookplate from the CSIR mounted to half-title. 4to; original black boards; pictorial dustwrapper; pictorial endpapers; pp. xii + 352, incl. index; many portraits and other photographs, largely in monochrome, but with some colour.

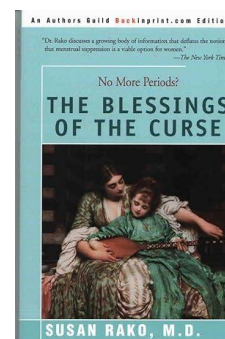

Dustwrapper curled to edges, with old tape marks, very scuffed on lower panel; recent archival tape repairs to reverse side; earlier owner's name signed on front free endpaper. Very good condition.

"This story of the first 40 years of the Council for Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) is presented in three parts. The first includes the events leading up to its establishment in 1945 and discusses the need for such a body in South Africa as seen against the background of world events, notably the impact of two world wars and the emergence in other countries of organizations with specific responsibilities for co-ordinating and developing scientific research. It continues as a chronological narrative of events which unavoidably is studded with names and dates. The second part focuses on the role of the CSIR as a national research council in promoting and supporting university, medical and industrial research, fostering international scientific co-operation and in providing scientific and technical information services. The development, organization and activities of the CSIR research laboratories, institutes and units, operating in this context as a 'contract research organization', are described in the third part." - Author's Preface. 67. Rako, Susan: No More Periods? The Blessings of the Curse (Lincoln, NE: iUniverse, 2006) 215 x 140 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. 191, incl. index. Very good.

"Dr. Rako discusses a growing body of information that deflates the notion that menstrual suppression is a viable option for women." R88 / £4,00 8303.

68. Rako, Susan: That's How the Light Gets In. Memoir of a Psychiatrist (New York: Harmony Books, 2005) 8vo; original papered boards, lettered in metallic red on spine; laminated pictorial dustwrapper; pp. 207 + (i). Very good.

"That's How the Light Gets In is an intelligent and intensely personal story from a highly respected doctor, author, and advocate for women's health issues. Dr. Rako's insightful stories of self, family, friends, patients, and colleagues bear witness to the power of discovering and standing to one's truth. Susan Rako will inspire you to look within yourself and acknowledge your deepest ambitions, develop your own imagination, and learn to break through the boundaries and limitations that each of us places on ourselves. That's How the Light Gets In will inspire you to live the life you've always wanted to live - the life of your dreams." R110 / £5,00 5638.

69. Rako, Susan: The Hormone of Desire. The Truth About Testosterone, Sexuality, and Menopause (New York: Three Rivers Press, 1999) 200 x 130 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. 140 + (i). As new.

"This is the book you've been hearing about! Dr. Susan Rako has brought her groundbreaking message about the miraculous benefits of testosterone - the FEMALE hormone - to women and physicians around the world via Oprah!, Dateline NBC, the New York Times, the Congress on Women's Health, and the Today show, among others. Dr. Rako is at the forefront of the research into testosterone replacement therapy, educating women and their doctors about the essential role testosterone plays in a woman's sexual and physical well-being. ... In this revised and updated edition, Dr. Rako introduces crucial new information that points to the need for adequate levels of testosterone as a key factor in protecting women from heart attack and stroke. The Hormone of Desire has become the standard-bearer for a new age of women's health, giving women and their doctors the opportunity to make informed decisions." R88 / £4,00 5639.

70. Rako, Susan, and Harvey Mazer (editors): Semrad. The Heart of a Therapist (Lincoln, NE: iUniverse, 2003) 230 x 150 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. 206 + (i). As new.

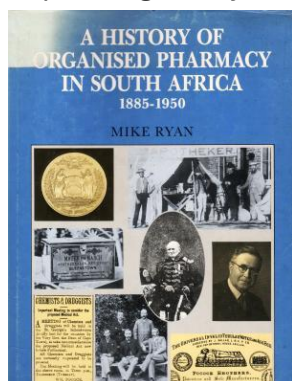

"For the past half-century, Harvard trained psychiatrists who learned their art and skill from a genius have quoted this wisdom in their work with patients and in teaching others the practice of psychotherapy. Here is the unique and heralded collection of remarks by this extraordinary teacher, Dr. Elvin Semrad, originally recorded by Susan Rako and Harvey Mazer during residency-training at Harvard's Massachusetts Mental Health Center in the 1960's." R110 / £5,00 5640.

71. Robertson, Isobel: The Life and Times of Dr. Jane Elizabeth Waterston, Missionary and Physician 1843 - 1932 (no place: The Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church of Southern Africa, 1988) 210 x 150 mm; saddle-stitched wrappers; pp. (ii) + 36; some illustrations. Slight trace of silverfish attention to edges of wrappers; occasional fox spot. Very good condition.

"Dr. Jane Waterston has a place in the medical history of South Africa, having been the first woman to practice in the community here. When I set out to write about her life, faced with articles written by a number of people, it seemed to me proper to write about the background to her medical practice, as this was in line with my own experience, including midwifery practice in a rural town where there were no trained midwives - a similar situation to that of Dr. Jane in Cape Town in last century." R165 / £7,50 12454.

72. Ryan, Mike: A History of Organised Pharmacy in South Africa 1885-1950 (Cape Town: The Society for the History of Pharmacy in South Africa, 1986) Number 278 of an edition limited to 500 numbered copies, signed by the author: the entire print-run was just 1020. 4to; original light blue boards, lettered in white on spine and upper cover; pictorial dustwrapper; pp. xiv + 129, incl. index; liberally illustrated with contemporary artwork, photographs, facsimiles. Dustwrapper partially sunned and rubbed, with trace of edgewear, and earlier owner's tape repair to reverse of spine panel at tail; bottom edges of boards slightly shelf-rubbed; some moderate foxing to reverse of dustwrapper, endpapers and edges, with occasional fox spot elsewhere. Very good condition.

"A HISTORY OF ORGANISED PHARMACY IN SOUTH AFRICA is a unique publication, being the first attempt at an historical overview of the efforts of pharmacists to organise themselves as a discreet profession in the South African context. ... The book in its wide scope illustrates how the profession in South Africa was affected by major historical events of the century such as the two World Wars and the Great Depression. It charts the growth of organised pharmacy from the founding of the first voluntary pharmaceutical society in King William's Town on 13 June 1885 to 1950, tracing the development of pharmacy into a clearly identifiable profession. Trends since the fifties are also covered. The work has anecdotal properties and dwells to some extent on prominent personalities who were involved in the formation of the organisations that represent the profession today." 73. Simmons, Jack A., and David E. Watt: Radiation Protection Dosimetry. A Radical Reappraisal (Madison, WI: Medical Physics Publishing, 1999) 253 x 178 mm; laminated wrappers; pp. xv + (i) + 140 + (ii); numerous text figures. Lamination rippling ever so slightly on upper cover adjacent to spine; trace of foxing. Very good condition.

"This is the first major effort to present an alternative approach to current radiation protection dosimetry. The authors analyse the defects and limitations of the present radiation protection paradigm, recording the history of its evolution, primarily the roles of the International Commission for Radiological Protection (ICRP) and the International Commission on Radiation Units and Measurements (ICRU), and documenting scientific lapses. A detailed description of the various radiobiological models to describe health effects of radiation is also presented. The authors' proposed model for radiation protection dosimetry is based primarily on radiation fluence rather than radiation dose. The model excludes the linear, no-threshold (LNT) model of radiation risk and suggests a threshold of 0.2 Sv for low linear energy transfer (LET) radiation and a much higher threshold for high LET radiation, such as from radium and plutonium." 74. South African Association for the Advancement of Science: South African Journal of Science (Johannesburg: The Association, Volume XXXII, November 1935) Original wraps, unevenly sunned, and a little frayed at the spine, pp. xlv + 712, illustrations, folding tables. Corners of a few early leaves slightly curled. R198 / £9,00 3110.

75. Tainton, Urlyn Clifton: Improvements in the Electrolytic Recovery of Zinc from Ores and other Zinc-bearing Materials (Redhill: Printed for His Majesty's Stationery Office, 1916) Patent No. 11,335 of A.D. 1915. Date of Application, 5th Aug., 1915 - Accepted, 7th Aug., 1916. The patentee is an "Engineer, of 4, Gordon Terrace, New Doornfontein, Johannesburg, Transvaal Province." 284 x 190 mm; disbound, without wraps.; pp. 4. Ink stamp of "Patent Library, Nottingham" to first page. Very good condition. £17,50 5017.

76. Tournier, Paul: Krankheit und Lebensprobleme (Basel: Schwabe & Co., 1967) 8vo; original blue cloth, lettered in gilt on spine and upper cover; no dustwrapper; pp. 295 + (i). Cloth a little sunned; earlier owner's name signed on front free endpaper; some spotting to edges; some underlining. Good. German text. Paul Tournier, famous Swiss physician and moral philosopher, is credited with having pioneered "person-centred psychotherapy", as Viktor Frankl calls his approach, which emphasises treating the patient as a whole. R110 / £5,00 7003.

77. Tyson, P. D.: Climatic Change and Variability in Southern Africa (Cape Town: Oxford University Press, 1986) 4to; original blue boards, lettered in gilt on spine; laminated pictorial dustwrapper; pp. ix + (iii) + 220, incl. index; profusely illustrated with diagrams and maps. Dustwrapper very slightly rubbed; earlier owner's name signed on pastedown. Near fine condition.

"Although a great deal is known about the extent and the atmospheric modulation of climatic change over long periods and the variability of climates over shorter periods of time in the northern hemisphere, less is known of southern hemisphere conditions, particularly in subtropical regions where the occurrence of droughts is endemic. Subtropical atmospheric circulations provide the coupling between the circulation of tropical and temperate latitudes and control the climatic variability of vast semi-arid areas of the earth affected by the semi-permanent high pressure cells of the general atmospheric circulation. The extent to which southern Africa's predominantly subtropical climate has responded differentially to both tropical and temperate variations in atmospheric circulation during the present century and in earlier times provides the focus of CLIMATIC CHANGE AND VARIABILITY IN SOUTHERN AFRICA." R440 / £20,00 10419.

78. Van de Venter, Albie: Enquiring Minds (Pretoria: Briza Publications, 1999) 210 x 148 mm; laminated pictorial wrappers; pp. 193; monochrome illustrations. Fine condition.

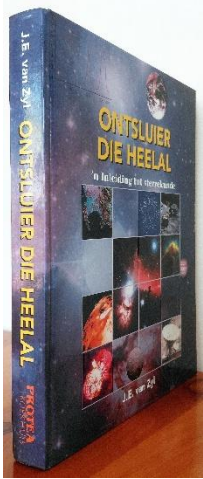

"Many of South Africa's politicians, sportsmen and women, musicians, actors and actresses, television personalities, businessmen and even criminals, are household names. Very few of our scientists are well-known to the public. This, in spite of the fact that they include some of the most enterprising and dedicated individuals in the country, that their work is often fascinating and exciting, and that it is of enormous benefit to our country and to science in general. As unofficial ambassadors, they travel around the world, making friends for, and generating goodwill towards, South Africa. They do not deserve to be ignored. This book introduces a mere handful of them. What sort of people are they? What are their backgrounds? Were they bright kids? Why are they interested in science? What motivates them? What are their secrets of success? What sort of work do they do? Is it fulfilling? Is it fun? The answers to these questions lie in their stories." R385 / £17,50 6406.

79. van Zyl, J. E.: Ontsluier die heelal. 'n Inleiding tot sterrekunde (Pretoria: Protea Boekhuis, 2002) 4to; laminated pictorial boards; decorative endpapers; pp. xi + (iii) + 353, incl. index; graphically illustrated with diagrams and photographs. Deletion fluid over earlier owner's penned name on half-title; slightest bump to top fore-corner of initial leaves. Near fine condition.

Afrikaans text. "Die publikasie van hierdie boek vul 'n groot leemte in die Afrikaanse boekewêreld. Dit is tans die enigste Afrikaanse sterrekundeboek en ook die mees omvangryke werk wat ooit in Afrikaans oor die sterrekunde gepubliseer is. Dit is aanvanklik deur die skrywer self uitgegee en was 'n buitengewoon suksesvolle boek waarvan duisende eksemplare verkoop is. Internasionaal was die aanvraag so groot dat dit deur Springer Verlag as 'Unveiling the Universe' uitgegee is. Die Engelse uitgawe word steeds internasionaal erken as een van die gesaghebbendste werke op dié gebied. Sedertdien was daar heelwat nuwe ontdekkings in die sterrekunde wat deur die outeur se eenvoudige en onderhoudende skryfstyl aan professionele sterrekundiges sowel as leke, bekendgestel word. Kleurvolle diagramme en foto's verhoog die publikasie se aantrekkingskrag. 'Ontsluier die heelal' sal 'n hele geslag nuwe lesers se kennis van die wonders van die sterrekunde verryk." R660 / £30,00 8338.

80. van Zyl, J. E.: Unveiling the Universe. An Introduction to Astronomy (Berlin: Springer-Verlag, 1996)

4to; laminated pictorial boards; pp. xiii + (i) + 324, incl index; liberally illustrated with charts, photographs, diagrams, tables. Two data sheets mounted to rear endpaper. Very good condition.

"Unveiling the Universe is the starting point for really learning about astronomy. It is perhaps one of the most complete introductory astronomy books ever published. Almost every aspect of the subject is described in detail. Beginning with charts of the night sky and a short history detailing the contribution made by the science's major figures, this encyclopedic book goes on to study instruments, measurements, and then every class of astronomical object. The exploration of the Solar System with space vehicles is given thorough coverage. ... Whatever your interest in astronomy, this will become one of your major reference books for years to come." R440 / £20,00 11516.
